

green knowledge – The Coffee Table Magazine full of sustainable knowledge

The fashion industry is caught up in a real transition and is not only looking out for solutions, but is actually transforming its conventional processes into sustainable ones. In addition, the consumers are questioning products increasingly critically regarding their production both in retail, in e-commerce as well as directly with the brands.

We believe that if you really are passionate about fashion, then you'll be interested in more than the look and genuinely care about the real demands it makes on our planet. Therefore, we launched the Green Knowledge Coffee Table Magazine in 2021, which presents itself to our readers as a knowledge tool, so that they do not only contribute to the sustainability turnaround but also promote it themselves.
